

Stan the Superbug Teaches Students to Save Antibiotic Strength

Stan the Superbug visits elementary schools across Virginia to teach students about saving antibiotic strength. This fun and interactive program is brought to you by Anthem Blue Cross and Blue Shield in partnership with the Virginia Department of Health in our effort to reduce antibiotic resistance.

Anthem employees dressed as Stan speak to kindergarteners through third graders about how to prevent getting sick this cold and flu season, plus what to do if you do become sick. The free half-hour program includes a skit customized to grade levels, educational games and prizes. Informative brochures are even supplied to send home to parents.

- Entertaining and informative skit
- Interactive games and prizes
- Parent Brochures
- Customized to grade levels
- Improves everyone's health

To have Stan the Superbug visit your school, contact Linda Jennings at (804) 354-3844.